Comments:

This variety from Limagrain Cereal Seeds was named for its silvery or blue-gray color in early growth stages. It is a medium-late, medium-tall variety with broad adaptation. It has done well in trials, showing good yields. Commercial notes include that it stands well, thrashes well, and has good protein and yield.

Its disease package responded well to most pressures this year in the field. It has good resistances to leaf rust and stripe rust, and stem rust.

Strengths:

- Leaf rust resistance
- Stripe rust resistance
- Excellent straw strength
- Acid soil tolerance
- SBMV resistance
- Good disease package

Weaknesses:

- Susceptible to stem rust
- Susceptible to Wheat Streak Mosaic Virus

Special notes on cultural practices:

- Best planted on time
